Re: Brunswick Hotel & Tavern – Notice of Data Security Incident

Dear «firstname» «lastname»:

Olympia Hotel Management, manager of the Brunswick Hotel & Tavern located at 4 Noble Street, Brunswick, Maine, recently discovered malware on the hotel's computer systems that may have resulted in unauthorized access to name and payment card information. As a recent guest of the hotel, we are writing to provide you with information about this incident, to share the steps that we are taking in response, and to provide you with important information about the steps you can take to reduce the risk of unauthorized use of your personal information. We regret any inconvenience this incident may have caused.

What happened:

Based on our investigation to date, it appears that one of the front desk computers at the hotel was infected with sophisticated malware designed to capture and permit remote access to name and payment card information while avoiding detection by anti-virus software. On August 12, 2015, our security consultants determined that the malware may have been active on that front desk system between November 29, 2014 and July 21, 2015. As a result, your information may have been exposed. Although we do not have conclusive evidence that your information was actually accessed remotely, we have not been able to rule that out and encourage you to take advantage of the credit monitoring and other resources we provide below.

What we are doing to protect your information:

Since the incident was identified, we have taken steps to eliminate the threat posed by the malware and further secure our systems against this type of intrusion. We have retained a leading cybersecurity and investigations company to help us further evaluate the situation and take appropriate action. We have also notified and are working with the major card companies to limit the risk to our guests of fraudulent card charges.

In addition, to help protect your identity, we are offering a complimentary one-year membership of Experian's® ProtectMyID® Alert. This product helps detect possible misuse of your personal information and provides you with superior identity protection support focused on immediate identification and resolution of identity theft.
