Dear <<MemberFirstName>> <<MemberLastName>>,

We are writing to notify you of a data security incident recently experienced by Santoro CPA that may have resulted in the disclosure of personal information, including your name, address, and Social Security number. This information was provided to Santoro CPA in connection with tax preparation and bookkeeping services we provided to your employer, former employer or a company for which you provided services as a subcontractor. This letter contains information about steps you can take to protect your information, and resources we are making available to help you.

1. What happened and what information was involved:

Santoro CPA recently learned of a data security incident involving information stored on its servers, and immediately hired independent computer forensic experts to assist with our investigation. On August 19, 2016, the forensic investigators informed us that an unauthorized user may have accessed the data housed on Santoro CPA's server. This includes information related to tax documents and bookkeeping records that may have included your name, address, and Social Security number.

For residents of Massachusetts:

It is required by state law that you are informed of your right to obtain a police report if you are a victim of identity theft.

For residents of all states:

Fraud Alerts: You can place fraud alerts with the three credit bureaus at one of the three major credit bureaus by phone and also via Experian's or Equifax's website. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you, before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you, but also may delay you when you seek to obtain credit. The contact information for all three credit bureaus is below.

Monitoring: You should always remain vigilant and monitor your accounts for suspicious or unusual activity.

Security Freeze: You also have the right to place a security freeze on your credit report. A security freeze is intended to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent. To place a security freeze on your credit report, you need to send a request to each consumer reporting agency by certified mail, overnight mail, or regular stamped mail. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze (note that if you are requesting a credit report for your spouse, this information must be provided for him/her as well): (1) full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past five years; and (5) any applicable incident report or complaint with a law enforcement agency or the Registry of Motor Vehicles. The request must also include a copy of a government-issued identification card and a copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement. It is essential that each copy be legible, display your name and current mailing address, and the date of issue. The consumer reporting agency may charge a fee of up to $5.00 to place a freeze or lift or remove a freeze, but is free if you are a victim of identity theft or the spouse of a victim of identity theft, and you have submitted a valid police report relating to the identity theft incident to the consumer reporting agency. You may obtain a security freeze by contacting any one or more of the following national consumer reporting agencies:
