Subject: Notice of Data Breach

Dear  and :

Wells Fargo is writing to inform you of an incident that may affect the security of your personal information. We apologize for any concern this may cause and take this matter seriously. Below, we've provided information about the incident and resources available to you to help protect your information.

What happened?

On May 26, 2020, a Wells Fargo internal investigation discovered that between December, 2019 and May, 2020 an employee used your personal information to make unauthorized purchases using your debit card.

You may have already filed fraud claims related to these transactions, been reimbursed for the losses, and been assisted with closing your account.

What information was involved?

The personal information involved included your name, debit card number, and card verification code (CCV).

What we are doing

In addition to taking measures to monitor the account for suspicious events or changes, we are offering you a complimentary two-year subscription to Experian IdentityWorks<sup>SM</sup>, a credit monitoring and identity theft protection service provided by Experian®.

Tips to Safeguard Personal Information

Protecting your accounts:

- Monitor your account statements often (even daily in online banking) to review all charges and transactions. Contact us immediately at 1-800-TO-WELLS (1-800-869-3557) 24 hours a day, and 7 days a week, if you see discrepancies or unauthorized activity on your Wells Fargo accounts. We will carefully review them for reimbursement in accordance with our policies.
- If available, consider placing password protection on your Wells Fargo accounts, and do not use any part of your social security number as the username or password. To find out if password protection is available for your accounts, visit any Wells Fargo branch. Or we can help you close these accounts and transfer the money to new accounts. For this option, please call us at 1-800-TO-WELLS (1-800-869-3557), 24 hours a day, and 7 days a week, or visit any Wells Fargo branch.
- For more tips on how to protect your Wells Fargo accounts, please visit www.wellsfargo.com/privacy\_security
- Do not write down or share your Personal Identification Number (PIN) number or passwords with anyone.
- If you receive suspicious emails that claim to be from Wells Fargo, forward them to reportphish@wellsfargo.com and then delete them.
- If you have accounts at other financial institutions, please notify them and they can advise you on additional steps to take.
- If your user name or email address, with a password or security question and answer that would permit access to an online account were involved, promptly change you user name or password and security question or answer, as applicable, or take other appropriate steps to protect online accounts for which you use the same user name or email address and password or security question and answer.

Protecting your identity:

- Place a fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert tells creditors to contact you before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. Call any one of the three major credit bureaus listed on the back of this page. As soon as one credit bureau confirms your fraud alert, the others are notified to place fraud alerts. This provides a significant layer of protection; however, it may limit your ability to get "instant credit" such as the offers often available at retail branches.
- Check your credit report to ensure all your information is correct. You can obtain a free credit report from each of the three major credit bureaus every 12 months by visiting www.annualcreditreport.com or calling 1-877-322-8228.
- If you believe you are a victim of identity theft, report it to your local law enforcement agency and to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) or your state Attorney General.
- You also may want to consider placing a freeze on your credit file. A credit freeze means potential creditors cannot get your credit report and makes it less likely that an identity thief can open new accounts in your name. To place a freeze on your credit you can contact the nationwide credit bureaus. You can freeze your credit for free, but you'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, social security number and other personal information. After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze. To lift the freeze, you will need to contact the credit bureaus again.
- Information on how to contact the major credit bureaus, the FTC and Attorneys General can be found on the back of this page.
